

HAMPTON, PHOEBUS AND OLD POINT.

MISS SEGAR BRIDE OF MR. B. A. LEWIS

Marriage Ceremony Read by Rev.
Dr. E. P. Jones in Hampton Baptist Church.

SOCIETY ATTENDS EN MASSE

Ring Service Used—Building Decorated With Autumn Leaves and Potted Plants—Bridal Party Leaves on Steamer For Wedding Trip in the North—To Be Home in Ten Days.

At 5:30 o'clock last evening Miss Laura Campbell Segar, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Sue and the late Mr. Arthur S. Segar, was married to Mr. Arthur S. Segar, was married to Mr. Burdette Ashton Lewis, commonwealth's attorney of Elizabeth City county, in the Hampton Baptist church.

The church was handsomely decorated, and friends of the contracting parties filled every available inch of space in the edifice. The decorations were of autumn leaves, ferns, palms, and potted plants. The altar was embellished with the growing plants. The church was illuminated with many candelabra.

Bride Enters the Church.

Shortly after the hour appointed for the wedding, Miss Segar, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Arthur S. Segar, and accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. William Herndon Pearson as matron of honor, and Miss Lotta Segar as maid of honor, entered the church to the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march, and was met at the altar by Mr. Lewis and his best man and brother, Mr. Edward Lewis, of Brunswick county.

Rev. E. Pendleton Jones, D. D., pastor of the church, met the party at the chancel and performed the ceremony, the ring service being used.

The Bridesmaids.

The bridesmaids costumed in white and carrying bouquets of chrysanthemums, were Misses Mary Booker, Cornelia Segar Melvin Tabb, Cornelia Lindsay, Lillian Young, of Hampton; Katherine Kratzer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Virginia Nottingham, of Cape Charles.

Messrs. Thornton F. Jones, W. C. L.
Tallaferra, Minder Segar, S. E. Alford, R. M. Booker, of Hampton; Ralph Gunn, of Richmond; J. A. Massie, of Newport News; and Dr. William Price, of Brunswick county, were the ushers. The groomsmen were evening dress.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her veil was tied with a crescent pin, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor and the matron of honor wore dresses of white crepe de chine over tulle and each carried bouquets of roses.

The four little flower girls were Misses Nancy Schmelz, Page Schater, Mary Phillips and Virginia Mason.

Mrs. Lewis is an attractive young woman and is much esteemed in the society circles. Mr. Lewis, besides being the commonwealth's attorney is a popular young member of the Hampton bar.

The pair were the recipients of many pretty and handsome presents, including cut glass and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis left on the steamer for New York city, where they will spend ten days, after which they will return here.

The members of the wedding party were entertained last evening by Mrs.
Sue Segar at her home in East Hampton. Tuesday evening Mrs. W. H.
Heardon gave a reception in honor of the bridal party.

MR. MORRIS LOWEST BIDDER.

Phoebus Contractor Will Install Heating and Plumbing in Kitchen.

Mr. W. G. Morris, Phoebus contractor, submitted the lowest bid for installing the heating and plumbing in the new kitchen at the National Soldiers' Home, bids for which were opened Tuesday at noon. Mr. Morris offered to do the work for $2,870, while Mr. Joseph E. Henley, of Baltimore, bid $3,499 and the Newport News Heating and Plumbing company, $3,208.

Mr. Morris will receive the contract.
The kitchen was destroyed by fire a few months ago.

Transport to Sail.

The tug, Joseph Johnson, which, was sent to Old Point to be used as a transport in connection with transporting soldiers to Cuba, has received orders to return to New York, and will sail for that port this morning.

sistant secretary of the Fort Monroe Young Men's Christian Association, will start today for his former home in Pennsylvania, where he will spend two weeks.

Mrs. George Guy is visiting friends in Richmond.

CAPT. SAMUEL VEAL

GOES TO BALTIMORE

He Has Been Named Deputy Order Clerk With the Adams' Express Company in that City.

Capt. Samuel Veal, who for six years has been the agent of the Adams' Express Company at Old Point, has been promoted to the position of money order clerk in the company's office in Baltimore. Capt.
Veal started Tuesday evening for the Monumental City to assume his duties.

Mr. C. E. Ballard, who has been in charge of the office at Chester, Pa., has been transferred to Old Point, succeeding Capt. Veal.

Mr. Charles F. Rust resigned the position of manager of the United States Express company's office at Old Point, effective on next Saturday. Mr. Rust has been in charge of the office for eighteen months.
He has accepted a position as traveling salesman with a New York concern. Mr. Rust's successor has not been selected.

NECK BROKEN BUT LIVES.

Workman Sustains Accident That Usually Ends Fatally.
(By Associated Press.)

DAYTON, O., Oct. 21.—Alonzo Sonslin's neck was broken yesterday by a falling board at a manufacturing plant where he was at work. A surgeon happened to be near and Sonslin's head and shoulders were promptly placed in a plaster cast.
More than twenty-four hours have elapsed and he is improving so rapidly that the doctor believes the patient will recover.

LABRADOR.

Its Fascinating Procession of Colo-sal, Fantastic Icebergs.

It is the icebergs that make Labrador fascinating. They greet you when you steam out of the strait of Belle Isle, the northern gateway of the gulf of St. Lawrence, and head northward up the coast of Labrador. They come floating from the north, an endless procession, all shapes, fantastic, colossal, statuesque, even grotesque—a magnificent assemblage of crystal domes and turrets and marble fortresses. Your steamer picks its way carefully among them lest they be jealous of her intrusion and fall over upon her. And in the midst of this glorious company you come to Battle Harbor.

The settlement is on an island perhaps 200 yards in diameter, which is the outpost of a larger island, and prow of some gigantic ocean liner. In storms the spray leaps almost across its leaky surface. A cove hides behind the bluff sea wall, and on its rim nestles a tiny village of whitewashed cottages. You climb the hill to the lookout. Away to the north and south spreads out the vast procession of the icebergs. They come out of the north, the fog surrounding their tops and streaming like smoke from their pinnales. They move slowly southward, perhaps three or four miles a day.
Some go directly south down the Newfoundland coast, some turn west as they approach the strait and are swept by the tide into the gulf of St. Lawrence.

Day by day from the hilltop you note their slow progress. Each day sees new forms emerging on the northern horizon, while old, familiar bulks are lost to view in the south. Each month's icebergs are natives of a more northern region. Hence the bergs of the late summer, though fewer in number, are individually larger than those of the earlier part of the season, because they have been longer in the making, coming from farther north.

June's icebergs are Labrador's own product and have broken off from the ice field that has filled the bays and extended far into the ocean in the previous winter. July's bergs come from Baffin Land, while the huge bulks of August are natives of Kane bay and the far northern rim of Greenland, where man has never been.—W. B.
Conant in Boston Transcript.

DOG DON'TS.

Fish Swallow Sand.

Captains of fishing smacks in the North sea have found that codfish at certain times of the year take sand into their stomachs as "ballast." This, it would appear, is done when the fish are about to migrate from the shallow water covering the southern banks of the North sea to the deeper water farther north. It has been observed that fish caught on the southern banks just before the migration begins and those caught in the northern waters after it is completed have sand in their stomachs and that the sand is discharged after the arrival of the fish at the southern banks on the return migration. In proof of this it is stated that the sand found in the fish often differs in color and quality from that of the bottom where they are caught.—Washington Post.

Chile and Andes.

Two ways, Chili and Chile, is the name of our South American neighbor written. Chile is the Spanish and Chilean form. The name is commonly explained as an old Peruvian word for snow, the allusion being to the Andes.
But "Chili" has also been identified as a native South American word, "chili," meaning cold, which would make it really the "chilly" country. As to the meaning of "Andes," there is plenty of choice. The word has been variously interpreted as signifying the haunt of the tapir, the region of copper, the home of the Anti tribe and the site of the "Andenes," Spanish gardens on the mountain terraces.

Necessarily.

Dinglebats—The oculist charged you $5 for taking a grain of sand out of your eye? That's pretty steep, isn't it?
Himpsey—I thought so till I looked over his bill. It was for "removing foreign substances from the cornea," and, of course, that costs more.— Chicago Tribune.

Would Please Dick.

Mrs. Henpeck—If you marry Dick, you need never expect me to come to see you. Daughter—Just say that into the gramophone, won't you, please?
Mrs. Henpeck—What for? Daughter—I want to give it to Dick as a wedding present.

Effect of Familiarity.

"Breves is pretty familiar with the law, I am told."

"Wonderfully so. I guess that is why he manages to get himself fined for contempt every session."

Same People.

"Hallow, Bilkins! Who are you working for now?"

"Same people—a wife and five children."
